The Great Indifference of the Na-tional Lawmakers is Complained Of.

A Reception to Gen. Sickles-Henri Watterson Speaks for Louis-ville—Women Delegates— Mrs. John A. Logan.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12.-While 200,000 persons have left the city since yesterday there are still 200,000 strangers in town. The national encampment of the G.A.R. opened this morning in the new Grand Operahouse. Delegates were welcomed on behalf of the Citizens' Executive Board by Chairman C. Ripley and W. C. Quincy. Gov. Pattison welcomed them on behalf of the State, Mayor McKenna of Pittsburgh and Mayor Kennedy of Allegheny on behalf of the cities.

The annual reports of the national officers were read. Commander-in-Chief Adams reported the total membership was 269,084 as against 397,223 a year ago. Each succeeding year, he said, will show a de crease. The interest in the order however as grown stronger. When the last comrade is mustered out and the G.A.R. should cease to exist, the Sons of Veterans would cease to exist, the Sons of Veterans would carry on its work. The pension department of the order had investigated all cases of alleged pension frauds. Very few frauds were discovered and they were the work of dishonest agents. Adams complained that the Pension Office, in violation of the intended liberality of the act of June of the intended liberality of the act of June 27, 1890, rejected every claim about which there was the slightest doubt.

The Committee on Legislation reported to the effect that: "The greatest indifference seems to be shown on the part of our national law-makers" itoward veterans, and urged the G.A.R. members to use their influence with their Senators and Representatives to give preference in every public employment to the survivors of the war.

Gen. Charles H. T. Collins of New York, in a brief speech, said it was the duty of old soldiers and sailors to conserve the safety of the nation and that they should train their sons to carry on the work. Then he referred to the alleged armor-plate frauds and insisted the investigation should not be allowed to drop and if the authori-ties failed to act, the veterans should take such action at the next election as would remove the delinquent officials and put more zealous and patriotic men in their places. Gen. Collins presented the matter in the form of a resolution, but it was declared out of order.

Henry Watterson was introduced to the delegates, and in presenting the claims of Louisville for the next encampment he lafter the reading of reports, appointnent of committees, the next business was the fixing of the next encampment place, and Louisville was selected by a unanim and rising vote. The nomination for commander-in-chief was then taken up, and the names of I. N. Walker of Indiana and Lawfer of Iffinois were presented. The convention adjourned until tomorrow.

Mrs. Gen. Custer sent to the national encampment for use during the present session the table upon which Gen. Lee signed the articles of capitulation. The table was originally the property of Gen. Sheridan, but he gave it to Gen. Custer. A reception was given Gen. Daniel E. lickles by members of his old corps, the Third.

The last parade of the encampment occurred this afternoon, when the Union ex-prisoners of war turned out 10,000 strong, every State in the Union having one or more representatives in the ranks. John H. Hancock was marshal.

The election of commander-in-chief will not be held until tomorrow. Since the withdrawal of Judge Charles D. Long of Michigan the opinion is rapidly growing that Col. I. N. Walker of Indiana will secure the coveted honor. The Woman's Re-lief Corps, Ladies of the G.A.R., and Daughters of Veterans are also holding conventions. The staff of Capt. Adams, the retiring commander-in-chief, presented him and wife, last night, with diamond souvenirs. Mrs. Adams was honored by being elected an honorary member of the staff. She is the second woman to receive such a compliment, the wife of Gen. Alger being the first.

Several thousand workmen are already assembled at Panama waiting for the resumption of work.

Secretary Carlisle has authorized the official announcement that he would not pay any sugar bounty earned but unpaid when the new tariff bill went into effect on August 29. The Secretary's refusal to pay the sugarbounty claims is based upon the clause of the new tariff bill repealing the sugar-bounty provisions of the McKinley law, which concludes as follows: "And hereafter it shall be unlawful to issue any license to produce sugar or pay any bounty for the production of sugar of any kind under the said act."

The Secretary will write an official letter to Senator Manderson, embodying his decision.

It is reported that four fast Chinese torpedo-catchers are lying at Canton to way-lay Japanese merchant vessels which may me from foreign ports laden with arms and ammunition. All of them are said to be able to make eighteen knots.

There has been some fighting at Bing-Chong, Korea, but no decisive engagement has yet taken place. It is probable, however, that the next battle will take place in that vicinity. The town is situated north of Seoul near the Tai-Dong River. After the battles of Asan and Seikwan, many of the defeated Chinese made their way to Bing-Chong, where a portion of the army was posted. There is now a large force there, as Chinese troops numbering ten thousand have arrived from An-In The Chinese ordered the Governor to supply rice for the use of the army. Two thousand Chinese troops have also arrived at Hosan-Chin, on the banks of the Tai-Dong River, and have started to build a fort to defend the position. A Japanese general says that the battle which will take place soon at Bing-Chong will have important bearing on the ultimate outcome of the war in Korea.

According to a correspondent of the Japan Advertiser, there are now in Korea 34,600 troops. Of this number 800 are cavalry. The Chinese army numbers about the same, the main body being encamped at Ping-Yang, where formidable earthworks have been thrown up. This will be the Chinese base of operations in Korea. Besides the Chinese, the same correspondent asserts that there are 200,000 Koreans arrayed against the Japanese, but as most of these are poorly-armed or unarmed they do not constitute a formidable force. When they join the Chinese army and are supplied by the latter with rifles, as is intended, by the latter with rifles, as is intended, they will greatly strengthen the Celestials.

DAMAGES BY FIRE.

Railroad Exemption from Liability Not Contrary to Public Policy.

CEDAR RAPIDS (Iowa.) Sept. 12 .- In he case of the Hartford Fire Insuran Company against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, Judge Shiras has ruled that contracts exempting railroad corporations from liability for damages caused by fire is not contrary to public policy. In 1890, the railroad com-pany leased a tract of ground near the depot of the company at Monticello to Samp-son, McIntyre and Company for the pur-pose of erecting a cold-storage warehouse. In the proviso, the contract exempted the railroad company from damage in case the warehouse was destroyed by fire caused by sparks from locomotive or through the negligence of employees or the agents of the company. In 1892, the warehouse was destroyed by fire and Sampson, McIntyre and Company were paid $28,000 insurance by the Hartford Fire Insurance Company.

The insurance company then brought suit against the Chicago, Millwaukee and $L.

against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road for the recovery of this me on the ground that such contracts are on the ground that such contracts are con-trary to the public policy of the State. To these allegations, the railroad company entered a demurrer, which was argued originally before Judge Shiras at the spring term. He reserved his decision because originally before Judge Shiras at the apring term. He reserved his decision because a case similar to this one was then pending before the Supreme Court of the State. The opinion just rendered by Judge Shiras is very long; all phases of the case being carefully reviewed. He holds that the contract contained in the lease to Sampson, McIntyre and Company, exempting the defendant company from liability by fire is not contrary to public policy and hence is not invalid.

SIOUX CITY (Iowa,) Sept. 12.—Ed Webster, who has been in Chicago trying to secure signatures to articles for a fight, returned here today. He said:

"I am convinced that Jackson is afraid to meet Corbett and simply wieses to advertise himself. I don't think the two men will ever get together, and I am satisfied that it will not be Corbett's fault. Nevertheless, I have authorized Edward Hackett of New York to act for the club and endeavor to make a match before Jackson sails for the West Indies, if possible. Jackson will be in New York today and Hackett will try to get a meeting between the fighters if he can. I am attailed he will fail, however, and doubt if Jackson has nerve enough to meet Corbett, even for the purpose of discussing articles."

PETT FREES HIS MIND Y YORK, Sept. 12.—Corbett, 4n article in the World this morning

New Orleans, P. J. Donohue of New York, John Eckhardt of New York, George Sher of Chicago, John Kelly of New York, and Al Smith of New York, all of them satisfactory to me. I want to put this man on record. Does he dare to insinuate that any of these men would stoop to give him the worst of 11? He take about fighting in three months, when he knows that this club has shown him that it is impossible for them to bring it off in that time. If he is so anxious to fight me, why doesn't he come to where I am, and he can get all the fight he wants in awenty-four hours' notice, or I will meet him secretly at any place he names, or will show him up plainly.

"The truth of the matter is that this man hates Americans because they do not consider him as good as they are, and because he is not allowed to pose and strut about and be looked up to and worshipped as he is on the other side of the water. When he sails for England he will never return here, and while 3000 miles away will keep up his wordy war on me and try to persuade the public that he is on the clued the public that he is on the clued the public that he is on the level when I know his purpose in going to that country is to engage in a fake fight with another broken-down fighter, Slavin. He says he is not an actor and that his theatrical contracts do not interfere with him. No, because his attempt to appear on the stage was a dire failure and the managers throughout the country now refuse to book him.

"In conclusion, Mr. Peter Jackson, I tell you plainly that if will fight uprightly or openly in one week, one month, two months or three months' time for as much as you can raise, purse or no purse in a club, on a barge, in a tack, in a room—anywhere in America."

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The $10,000 forfelt which Peter Jackson posted with William J. Davis for a fight with Corbett was taken down today.

"Jackson will never get a fight with Corbett," said "Parson" Davies later. "Jackson will sail for the West Indies at once, and will then go to London. How long he will stay, I don't know, but he has given up all hope of meeting Corbett in the ring."

Evidences in the shed showed a bench had been placed in one corner, opposite which was fixed a gun. The string from the gun-trigger to the bench passed through carefully-arranged staples. Two bullet-holes in the target showed that the range had been taken. The deceased had attired himself in his best suit of clothes and covered himself with a cloth to prevent spoiling his suit with blood. He laid down on the bench, placed his head in range already well ascertained, and pulled the trigger. The ball passed clean through his head. There was no evidence of any struggle.

The following note was found: "I owe no one. Bury me in Mud Bay burying-ground. Put me in a coffin as you find me. If my body must stand over night, put me in a tight room that will keep out rats and mics. What money I have is in my pockets."
There was $19 found in his clothes.

Mrs. Jamleson was Lulu Gertrude Nelson of Antioch, Cal., where the lived until she was 15 years of agt. Then she went to Port Angeles, Wash., to join her father in his home there, and was soon aftenward married to Jamleson, with whom the removed to Victoria. After being married eight years she eloped with Turner, a gay member of Victoria's best ust. Turner and Mrs. Jamleson are new living at Aparado, Max., where a boy was born to them on April 11. They are represented to be anxious to marry.

April 11. They are represented to be anxious to marry.

When Jamieson found they had escaped from the country he gave up the pursuit, and directed Attorney E. Philips to begin action for divorce, charging desertion. The papers were prepared long ago. Jamieson was repeatedly written to to come and attest them. Jamieson has ignored the letters. Since Mrs. Jamieson will not return, Phillips considers it before to set her free to be married to flutner and lightimatize the boy, now 7 months old. For that reason Attorney Phillips concluded to attest the complaint himself, and compribe attendance and tastimony of Jamieson. Mrs. Hamilton at Antioch has received several letters from Mrs. Jamieson, and in one, dated City of Mexico, July 4, Mrs. Jamieson writes: "Baby was born on April 11. It took chills and fever, and has been very ill, indeed. Now I have to wear glasses, for my eyes are so weak. My baby is a fine, big boy, and he has been wery ill. The climate of Mexico is the worst in the wond for fittle children, they die so quickly. Will you take my boy and raise bim until he is about 2 years old? I will pay you what you ask a month. God knows it is hard for me to part with him, but I must do so. When you answer this will you tell me whether you would care to take my poor, little boy, for I know no one loves him like hie mother. "Mr. Turner is getting $150 a menth, but it takes monery to live here. My saby's name is Arthur Nelson Turner. He has big, blue eyts and fair hair. He is a handwome boy, if I do say it."

Mrs. Hamilton could not take the baby, and the child is still in Mexico.

crowded to overflowing this afternoon to listen to the testimony of Mrs. Hartley, which proved quite sensational. In a dramatic and very effective manner she described in detail the occurrences that led up to the killing of Senator Foley in Reno last July. Her testimmony in substance was as follows:

"I came toReno as a widow and stranger in October, '93. I had some mining property near Meadow Lake, beyond that I relied on an artist's profession for a livelihood. I secured a studio in the Nevada Bank building. A few days after, Senator Foley, president of the bank, came to my room to see about the gas fixtures. While there he saw specimens from my mine. He said he took considerable interest in mines and would like all the information possible about my property.

"He said Senator Jones was coming in a few days and he would like to interest him. It being inconvenient to get the papers then relative to the property, the matter was postponed. On January 30, Foley came in the evening and again asked for the papers, saying Jones would be here on the morrow. I promised to take them to Foley at the bank in the morning. He insisted on having them then. I refused. He came in the room fad, through persisting, persuaded me to look for the papers. He said he had a cold and asked for a drink. I got brandy and benedictine, placed them on a table and went to look for the papers. On returning he had two cups with liquor in and insisted on my drinking with him. I refused; said I was tired; that it was very late and he should go home. He still persuaded me to drink it all.

"A peculiar feeling immediately came over me, and realizing I was becoming deathly sick, I cried: "I am dying," and fell upon the couch. When I regained consciousness all was dark, and Foley was beside me bathing my head. I asked him to lay my head-down and leave. The latter request he refused. I fainted. When I regained consciousness as second time the morning light was streaming through the window. He was still with me. I cried: "Mr. Foley, the janitor comes me this humiliation. He made a fire, placed brandy and water by my side, and said: 'Good-by; I hope you will soon be better.'

"He returned that night. I said: 'If you ever mention what you did last night beware of the consequences.' He started to apologize. I put my hand in my pocket and said: 'Leave, and always keep away from me, or I may not be able to restrain myself.' He went. Several times on different nights afterwards he knocked. I told him if he persisted in coming I might put a bullet through the door. On February 25 I entered my room at night and locked the door. On crossing the room, Foley stepped out from a corner in front of me. I started for the door. He put his hand on my mouth and said: 'Alice, don't make a fuss.' Later, an opportunity offered, and I called for help. He put his hand on my mouth again and finally persuaded me to talk business.

"After a long talk he picked me up in his arms. The struggle was short. He threw me on a couch. When I regained consciousness I said: 'Now, I shall have to kill you.' He seemed remorseful. I got my keys and went to the trunk, where my pistol was. He grabbed my hand to prevent me. I struck him in the face as hard as I could. A short time after he left. I don't know what time; I was beside myself."

Recess was then taken until tomorrow at 9 o'clock. The attorney for the State warned the ladies not to be present tomorrow, as answers elicited might make them blush.

THE MORE ESTATE. The Removal of the Present Admintrator is Asked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The heirs of the late Alexander P. More are not satisfied with the appointment of John F. More, brother of the deceased, as admin-

More, brother of the accessed, as administrator of the estate. They filed a petition today, asking that some competent person be appointed by the court to receive certain property belonging to the estate, which the administrator will soon be compelled to turn over to him, for otherwise he, in his individual capacity, will turn over to himself as the representative of his brother's estate thousands of dollars' worth of property.

On October 1, 1891 Alexander P. More leased to his brother, John F. More, Santa Rosa Island, in Santa Barbara Channel, together with certain provisions, supplies, implements and stock. The lease was for three years at a rental of $10,000 a year. At the expiration of the lease John F. More is to turn over supplies equal in quantity and quality to those left on the island. The cattle were to be increased and kept up to 1500 head, and the sheep to 40,000 head, all of which are to be turned over on October 1.

head, all of which are to be turned over on October 1.

The heirs say in their petition: "As the interests of John F. More are antago-nistic to the interests of the estate, and-he is obliged to account in a representa-tive capacity and also individually, it is possible and probable that some serious questions of fact may subsequently arise as to the faithful performance of the cove-nants of the lease."

David Starr Jordan, president of the Stanford University, followed with an address on the subject of "Heridity in Domesiic Animals." Speaking of tuberculosis in cattle, he declared there was only one ramedy—to kill infected cattle as soon as they are found to be diseased. Prof. Jordan did not believe that tuberculosis or any other disease is hereditary. More has been found out about heredity in ten years than was ever known before, he sald.

Howard Benwick of Monterey then addressed the delegation on the subject of "Co-operation." Nathaniel E. Wilson, the chemiat of the Newada experimental station at Reno, read a paper on the "Babcock Test and Its Rolation to the Dairy Industry."

General discussion of dairy matters by the delegates then followed.

The evening session was opened with an address of A. P. Martin of Petaluma on "Increasing the Receipts of the Dairy by Lessening the Cost of Production."

Louis Thomassin, manager of the Dairymen's Union of California, read a critical and statistical essay, showing that the dairy products of the State are worth $14, 425,994. "Dear Ma: Good-bye, loved one. I hope we will meet in heaven.

"To Mrs. J. Landecker, No. 858 Milton street, Oakland."

At the address given in this note Mrs. Landecker was found tonight and from the handwriting on the card she declared that the dead body was that of her husband. She said that Landecker had left home on July 13 to go to San Jose, and that was the last heard from him. The motive for the suicide, she says, was despondency, as her husband had lost $15,000 in stocks and had little property left. In the pockets today were found, in addition to the oard, a gold watch, $1.50 in cash and a silver feuntain pen. The body had hung so long from the tree that it had almost become mummified by the heat of the sun.

Four Fires Started in One Night at

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

MERCED, Sept. 12.—Merced was visited by four distinct fires tonight. The first was in the large barn belonging to Jacob Steering, in the south end of town, which was burned to the ground. Twenty-fire tons of hay and one cow were lost. Two men and some mules were also badly burned. The loss is about $1500. Therewas no insurance and the cause of the fire is unknown.

Almost simultaneously fire was discovered in the fine, corrugated fron stable belonging to the same party in the business portion of town. The cause of this fire is also unknown. It was extinguished before much damage was done. A similar attempt, apparently, was made to destroy George Kibby's barn by means of phosphorus, in which fire was discovered, but it was put out.

The fire company had hardly firished fighting these fires when a blaze searted in the Tuolumne Hotel stable. The stable was totally destroyed, also several adjacent outbuildings. This fire threatened the whole city, but was kept in check. Great excitement prevails and property-owners are watching, suspecting the presence of fire-bugs.

Dr. Watrous and Mrs. Halstead have been acquainted for many years. The latter states she also knows the doctor's wife, who died last February. To Mrs. Halstead the doctor stated that his object in coming to Oakland was two-fold. He was suffering from a spinal complaint, for which he desired treatment, and he also wished that he might find an agreeable housekeeper—some good woman who would go to this home at Redlands with him, nurse him, keep his household in order and altogether be a faithful housekeeper.

"It appears that physicians of the regular exhool had advised Dr. Watrous that his spinal trouble was incurable, but that with proper treatment the might find relief from his pain. An electric practitioner himself, formerly, he had no hesitancy in seeking aid wherever he traggined he could be benefited. So, after a trial of a boy healer, to whom he paid $75, Dr. Watrous experiencing no benefit, turned elsewhere. Circumstancis developed an acquaintance between Dr. Watrous and Mrs. L. M. Bates, their first meeting occurring two weeks ago. She was engaged by him to give him one treatment each day, and she came to Oakland four successive days under that agreement.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(By Atlantic Cable.) There was great annoyance felt by the fruit-dealers in Covent Garden today by the fact that no California fruit is arriving. The first shipments received here made the reputation of California fruit, end hundreds of the smaller dealers, finding the public welcomed California fruit, began arranging for a supply. Suddenly the shipments stopped, and now no fruit from California is expected to arrive before September 26. There are no pears or plums in the market, and if a supply of California-grown product was now in the market it would command high prices. The taste, color and quality of previous shipments were highly approved. the fact that no California fruit is arriv-

BRISTOL (Tenm.)* Sept 12.—Charles Rector and a boy named Morris, while inspecting a cave near Seven-mile Ford, five mile east of here, discovered two skeletons forty feet below the surface. The cave has long been known, but moone has ever ventured to explore 4t, because of its great depth. The Morris boy mas let down by a rope.

When the find awas reported, a party of citizens went to the cave to investigate further. In all, ten skeletons were taken out, and were adjudged to be the bones of women and children. One skeleton was found in a sitting position, with the skull rectiming in the arms. One citizen says that many years ago there was an inn kept near this cave by a can named vallen, and occasionally people who stopped there had mystritously disappeared, and were never again heard of. The supposition is that they were killed and robbed of their valuables, and then consigned to the pave. Some of the skeletoms discovered are partially buried under stones, and many of the bones were broken.

FRUITS OF THE NEW TARIFF

A few days ago a report was started that a new tin-plate mill was to be built somewhere in Indiana, and the Democratic press of the country has since then teemed with jubilant comments on this alleged "revival of industry" under the new tariff. But these jubilant journals have overlooked, intentionally or otherwise, an important bit of news in this connection. This is the fact that the American tin-plate manufacturers have notified their employees that, if they are to continue business under the new tariff, a reduction of from 12 to 20 per cent, in wages all around will be necessary. The men are now considering the proposition, which was submitted to them, accompanied by a copy of the new tin-plate schedule. furnishing irrefragible proof that the cut in wages was made necessary by the cut in the tariff. It is though probable that the men will accept the eduction-as, indeed, there seems to be little else left for them to do.

The Democratic press, for reasons not at all obscure, is keeping discreetly silent on this subject, though roaring lustily about that hypothetical new tin-plate mill somewhere in Hoo

By the way, the proposed reduction above noted, affects some ten thousand workmen in the tin-plate indus try-an industry which had no exist ence in the United States prior to the passage of the McKinley act; and an ndustry, moreover, which will again have no existence in the United States if it be long subjected to the tender mercies of Democratic "tariff reform"

THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

A matter of prime importance to the Republican party of Los Angeles county is the efficient organization and officering of the new County Central Committee. Upon the proper adjustment of this matter depends, in large measure, the result of the campaign. The party has a right to expect the efficient organization of the committee and the very best possible work from it, which has not been had from some of its predecessors. Much depends upon securing the services of a capable and zealous chairman, who will command the confidence of the committee and of the party. Such a man is Fred W. Wood of the Second Ward. He possesses capacity for organization and executive work, is active, zealous, upright and clean in his methods. He has in the past done excellent political work, and shown himself fitted for higher trusts. There are other candidates for the chair manship, but none, as far as we have heard names mentioned, better qualified, in our judgment, than Fred W. Wood.

The election is to take place today.

It is fair to note that the New York coatmakers won their strike, mention which was made a few days ago in these columns. They won because they deserved to win-if any strike is justifiable and cause from the beginning to the end of the trouble they refrained from violence, con-tenting themselves with a manly insistence on the justice of their demands. Their public sympathy at the beginning, and retained it to the end, by their dignified and manly demeanor. The New York Commercial Advertiser well says;

mercial Advertiser well says;

"The result of the strike is complete victory, not only over their employers, but over a system, the abominable 'aweating,' or piece system, under which they have been gradually reduced to one-third of their former remuneration. They are placed upon regular wages, ranging from $1 to $15 a week, or more than double their former receipts, and take their places beside their new follow-citizens upon equal tarms. This is a genuine wictory for labor, won by patient working people under orderly methods, and with the full sympathy of the community. Under these conditions will always win, and these conditions will always win, and these conditions will always win, and these conditions will be present only when it deserves to yin."

New enterprises are epringing up right and left in the Old World, with a view to capturing the lamerican markets, which are made more accessible by the new pamocratic tariff. Has anybody ficard of any tew enterprises marted in this country for the purpose of capturing the "marted of the world?" We must win those markets, if my are to give up our contracts of the world?

The Democratic County Convention after naming a ticket of the compromise Populist order, adjourned last evening at the close of a two days' session. In many respects the work of the body of delegates was remarkable, not because any particular amount of wisdom was dis-played in any of the details, but because of the very peculiar feeling which seemed to predominate. None of the delegates ap-peared to have confidence in the success to predominate. None of the delegates appeared to have confidence in the success of their party this dall, and, in consequence, they were ever ready to follow a leader wherever he might take them, be it into the Populist camp or any other foreign place. As a natural result, the tloket selected was a mixed one. Mrs. Galpin was first picked up as a candidate for Superintendent of Schools; then Bower, the Populist nominee for District Attorney, was tied to, while the Populist Justices came in for recognition at the close. In each of these cases, however, the Democrate would rise up in their might and proudly say that the candidates were all good Democrate, anyhow, and that they were not to blame if the Populists had "indorsed" them. It was one way of shutting their eyes while voting for Populists, in order to imagine that their ballots were really being cast for Democrates.

The amusing features of the convention were numerous and fully appreciated. There was the telegate from Burbank, who carried a reputation for perseverance during the sessions, when he insisted upon the little "cow country" precinct being given its rights, and the long-whiskered and biburous member from Cahuenga, who was the especial change of J. W. Mitchell, besides a number of other curious characters who did much to enliven the proceedings.

DEMOGRATIC CANDIDATES ARE HARD TO FIND.

The Democratic delegates came into the sall one by one yesterday morning and at the opening of the convention there was at the opening of the convention there was hardly a quorum present.

Chairman Stephens at 9:25 o'clock, pounded with his big mallet for order, and, without any preliminaries, said: "The next order of business is the nomination of a County Tax Collector."

W. A. Ryan took the platform to nominate B. E. Hewitt. He said that Mr. Hewitt had saved the county much money while serving in the capacity of Tax Collector, and for that reason, if for no other,

Venable said that it had sen Smith's misfortune to have his name More men, by hundreds, than can be em ployed are applying for work at Pullman now that the grip of the labor agitators has been loosened. resented before the Populists, but it was without his consent. W. H. Workman said that he hoped that W. H. Workman said that he hoped that Smith would be nominated by acclamation, but Henry Wilson had another candidate. Wilson thought that in consideration of Ed Gibson's manly stand, which he had taken when defeated for the nomination of Sheriff, he should be recognized and that the convention could do no better than nominate him for Assessor. The convention decided that the $5 deposited by Smith should be returned and then some one wanted the $5 put up by Hamilton, when the ballot on the clerkship was taken, also returned. The chairman ruled this motion out of order and this made a delegate named Guthrie very mad. He called for a division of the house, but Chairman Stephens, with much disagreeable discussion he would pay the $5 himself. He was not allowed to do so, however, for the convention sustained him in his decision ruling the motion out of order. printing office, but he will probably not be able to kick Mr. Gorman out of the Democratic party.

The names suggested for the Democratic nomination for Governor of New York show that mone of them are being groomed for a Presidential race. The list is headed by Dan Lamont.

A. G. Drayton, the Republican candidate for Congress in Chairman Wilson's district, is said to be a very popular and able man. It will cost the administration a pretty penny to defeat him.

The candidates for the momination of County Auditor were R. R. Brown, F. J. Potts, F. J. Palomares, A. G. Sanches and Edgar Moore.

The first ballot gave Palomares 277 votes; Potts, 201; Sanchez, 66; Brown, 92; Moore, 23.

The vote necessary to a choice was 330, which neither of the candidates received. The names of Moore and Brown were withdrawn and on the second ballot Palomares received a large majority of the votes. The result of the count was not announced, for the delegate who placed Potts in nomination moved that the nomination of Palomares be made unanimous and by acclamation. The motion was carried.

A strong sentiment in favor of indorsing E. C. Bower, the Populist nominee foy District Attorney, was apparent, and the applause when the name of J. R. Dupuy was presented was not nearly so enthusiastic as it was when Bower was mentioned.

D. K. Trask offered Bower's name, and he said while doing so, that he wanted to beat "that man Donnell" and thought that the nomination of Bower was the way to do this.

The ballot decided the contest in favor of Bower by a vote of 352 to 292.

of business, Senator White, who was in the hall, was called to the platform to address the convention.

The Senator spoke on the success of the Democratic administration of the past, and expressed a belief that the right road was being traveled. He said that there was a radical feeling in favor of tariff reform. The Democrats had sat for days in the Senate chamber listening to long essays by Republicans on the state of the industries, which were about as interesting as a consecutive perusal of Webster's Dictionary. When the Democrats did act, the Republicans raised the cry of "you haven't gone far enough." The Republican platform of the State was without sincerety; the Republicans had declared that they were in favor of woman suffrage, but had in their local convention, declared that woman had not the right to the benefits of public office. The Republican party was silent upon the railroad question, and perhaps it was as well, for every one knew where the Republicans stood with reference to the proposition. Mr. White denominated the new movement in local politics, the A.P.A. sentiment, as a departure of the Republican party, devised and stimulated for the purpose of catching votes and leading astray passive citizens who might be influenced.

George S. Patton, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Sixth District, also made a brief address, in which he ugain trung the changes on the railroad question. The argument of Mr. Patton in this regard has become very familiar to Democratic gatherings, and he had nothing new to say to his constituents yesterday.

The convention adjourned at 12 o'clock for an hour's recess.

On Monday morning, September 3, she was sent to the hospital. On the following Wednesday the authorities exid she was ready to leave in a few days. The husband was preparing to call on her when, on Saturday, he received word that she was dead. An undertaker took charge of the body and yesterday at was removed to the Sigel-street house. Here the neighbors gathered to view the body. The face of the dead woman was found to be blackned and bloody. At the hospital the husband protested that it was not the body of his wife and at first refused to remove it, but but finally allowed the undertaker to do it. The husband and neighbors say that the corpse was not that of Mrs. Grenspahn. They believe that she is not dead. The hospital authorities insist that the corpse is that of Mrs. Grenspahn. "I would be recreant in my duty if I omitted to call your attention to the acts of violence and lawlessness that occurred in this country during the late strike. While the acts of wrong-doing were due principally to the radiroads, yet, as an incident of such acts, men were beaten almost to death because they performed their duties, while others were compelled, on pain of death, to leave the State because they were suspected of having given information as to the identity of wrong-doers. I am led to believe that the wrongs committed were done chiefly by non-residents, who had been driven over the State line by the military; yet it is a fact that certain residents of this county were leaders in the acts spoken of. in this country during the late strike.

To take from the laboring man the right to quit the employment of uncertain tenure, and to urge other employees to do so, is to take from him his only weapon, inasmuch as he is ordinarily without any considerable accumulation of money or property, and he must make the value of his services felt speedily, or the saunt would of starvation will comman him.

The limit is that the striker must not molest the person or property of his employer, and must not interfere with the freedom of those who are content to accept as a compensation what the employer offers.

"It is clear that there can be no justification for mob rule under a form of government like ours. Our citizens, both native and naturalized, must be educated to respect the law. No one has better reason than the laboring man to demand the enforcement of the law against those who have committed violence, those who committed violence in the sacred name of labor. LONDON, Sept. 12.—(By Atlantic Cable.)
Crowds at daybreak today commenced wending their way from Buckingham and other places to Stowe House, the English residence of the late Comte de Paris, in order to make an attempt to view the casket containing the remains. The latter reposed in state in the handsome marble home of the exiled head of the royal house of Orleans, and a large number of people passed silently and uncovered before the bler from the earliest morning hours until the signal was given to clear the hall and prepare for the removal of the body to the railroad station.

French and English mingled with Germans and Americans, rich and poor elbowed each other, the deeply-subdued Royalists of France following behind the toursists. The arrangements for the funeral were completed, when, shortly after sunrise, a hearse, drawn by six superb Flemsh horses, arrived from London and was slowly driven to the secluded portions of the grounds to wait until summoned to the entrance of Stowe House in order to convey the body of the Comte de Paris on its way to Weybridge.

The early trains from London also brought many notable people, and a very much greater number of people, who were extracted to Stowe House out of curiosity or by the desire to pay a tribute of respect to the illustrious dead. The notabilities included official and unofficial representatives of nearly all the nations of the world, and gathered there during the day were princes and princesses representing nearly every royal family in Europe. From London some time previously, a handsome funeral train arrived, somberly draped inside and out. With it came a detachment of troops. From Stowe House, at 5:15 a.m., a small party of sight-seers had assembled in the neighberhood. The crowds were constantly augmented until "clock, when the hearse and tea mourning coaches wer, drawn up in front of the right of the residence of the Orleans family. The hearse bore six hatchmants of flour de ils, and was heavy with bowing plumes.

ily. The hearse bore six hatchmants of fleur de lis, and was heavy with bowing plumes.

An almost countless number of floral wreaths arrived at Stowe House yesterday and this morning many of them were conveyed there by special messenger from Parls and other parts of France. Among them was a magnificent floral wreath, eight feet in diameter, and composed of illies, roses and orchids, attached-to which was a trl-colored bow, sent by Baron Alphonse de Rothschild. Another very handsome tribute of flowers was sent by Mrs. George B. McCleilan, the widow of Gen. McCleilan, upon whose staff the Comte de Paris served for a time during the civil war in the United States.

The family of the Comte de Paris assembled around the bler about 6:30 a.m., and at 7:30 a.m. the bell of the chapel was tolled, cailing the relatives of the dead man to attoid mass, which was celebrated by Father Cafferata, a personal friend of the deceased. At 7:45 o'clock the casket, covered with a pail of violet volvet, over which was the trl-colored flag of France, was removed from the marbic hall to the hearse.

The princes, all in evening cress, took places according to their rank behind the Duc d'Orleans, eldest son of the dead man, who acted as chief mourner. Behind the princes followed a mourning carriage containing the Comtesse de Faris, the Qusen of Portugal (her eldest daughter), Princess Helen of Orleans and the Duchess de Montpensier. After this carriage followed others, in which were other ladies of the royal family of France. Behind the vehicles were the carriages, with shades drawn, of many notable families of England, and after them marched a procession of villagers and dependents. The casket was placed in the funeral train and profound silence.

The funeral train reached Weybridge at noon and the procession marched from the

After the vault was closed, the ladies returned to Stowe House and the Duc d'Orienna, accompanied by a number of d'Orleans, accompanied by a number of friends, went to London, where he held a reception at the Grosvang Hotel. It was attended by all the visiting royalists. The reception commenced punctually at 5 o'clock and it was estimated that the young duke received fully a thousand Frenchmen. When the assemblage was completed, the Duc d'Orleans addressed the Royalists in a firm, solemn voice, saying:

the Royalists in a firm, solemn voice, saying:

States District Court yesterday morning, H. T. Gage, Esq., of counsel for the de-defendant Harris, stated that he had just subpoensed in a civil action before Upon reconvening at 2 o'clock, the witness, Harris, was turned over to counsel for the defense for cross-examination.

Mr. Chensy handed the witness the anonymous letter referred to in his direct examination and asked him whether or not be could swear that it was written by Platt. He replied that he could not so swear, but that to the best of his knowledge and bedief it was. He was then asked to compare the letter with that over Platt's signature, and some stress was laid on the fact that Crandall's name was spelled differently upon the two envelopes.

Mr. Jage then took the witness in hand, but only asked one question, much to the surprise of those present.

Postoffice Inspector Flint was recalled at this juncture for the purpose of proving that the stamp on the envelope inclosing the anonymous letter was canceled in the main office, thereby showing that it went shrough the ordinary course of the the main office, thereby showing that it went shrough the ordinary course of the the main office, thereby showing that it went shrough the ordinary course of the the main office, thereby showing that it went shrough the ordinary course of the the companied betestives Bosqui and Benson to Crandall's room and took up a position in the light well, and overheard a conversation between Crandall and Harris. After Platt and Harris left the room, he and Benson followed them downstairs and overtook them on the street. He asked Harris to accompany him to the police station, as the Chief wanted to see him. On arrival at the station, witness escorted Harris to accompany him to the police station, as the Chief wanted to see him. On arrival at the station, witness escorted Harris to accompany him to the police station, such chief wanted to see him. On arrival at the station, witness escorted Harris demanded it, claiming that it was his property, but witness handed it to Detective Bosqui and left the room.

Smith, who was very briefly cross-examined, stated that when first placed under arrest, Harris did not ask him what he was arre Judge Clark, and a slight delay was occasioned while the attorney went to the telephone for the purpose of arranging for the taking of his testimony at some other more convenient time.

Upon learning that Mr. Gage's presence was necessary in the Superior Court forthwith, Judge Ross offered to suspend the proceedings until that gentleman returned, but it was agreed that the examination of the witness Bosqui should be resumed in Mr. Gage's absence, but that if it should be concluded before his return the proceedings should be suspended, as he desired to cross-examine the witness. At 10:45 c'clock, therefore, United States Attorney Denis recalled Detective Bosqui to the stand, but there was no response when Deputy Marshal Goodrich called out the name of the desired witness, and Judge Ross promptly directed Clerk Owen to issue an attachment for him, returnable forthwith. Before this order could be obeyed, Bosqui appeared, and Judge Ross immediately demanded why he was not present at the hour set. The witness replied that his watch had stopped and he falled to notice it until after the time at which court convened.

Judge Ross quietly fined the tardy witness $5, which Bosqui promptly tendered, but was told that he could pay the fine afterwards. After the reporter had read the latter part of hi, testimony of Tuesday aftermoon, he proceeded to relate the details of the evening interview between Harris, Platt and Crandall in the latter's room on March 26 last. He fully corroborated Crandall's testimony in every particular, and then related the circumstances of the arrest of the defendants by Detective Benson and Sergt. Smith on Main street as they left the building, he having had no hand in it, except to keep them in sight until they reached the station. He readily identified the $700 check, which had been handed to him for inspection by Sergt. Smith in the detectives room, and less deep them in sight until they reached the station. Mr. Gage, by way of an opening, called upon the witness to take the diagram of Crandall excused.

Betore he left the stand, however, Judge Ross extracted from the witness the important fact that the officers who had testified to having overheard the conversations between the witness and defendants were, in his rooms at his instigation, he having consulted Chief of Police Glass upon receipt of Platt's letter.

He admitted that at no time was he able to see Harris from his point of vantage; and also that at no stage of the proceeding did he hear Platt say that he had any cuts or printed matter.

Mr. Gage pressed Bosqui hard on the question of the conversations, but the court instructed the witness, who was somewhat confused, to maintain his self-possession and to take his time before answering the questions.

At this juncture the court asked: "How happened it that you officers were there?" Witness. We were ordered there by the Chief for the purpose of seeing and over hearing what was done and said by these men.

Mr. Gage then asked the witness the point blank question: "You are an enemy of Harris, are you not, and have been for a long time?"
Bosqui replied that he could not say of Harris, are you not, and have been for a long time?"

Bosqui replied that he could not say so "literally," as he believed that Harris was more his enemy than he was Harris's. He would say, however, that a personal feeling existed between Harris and himself, but he would not say that it was bitter. He had not spoken to Harris for about four years, since Frank Burns was Chief of Police. They passed each other on the street without speaking. Harris had circulated ill reports of him when he was an applicant for a position on the force under Burns, and had accused him of being an ex-convict, and had submitted a report to that effect to Police Commissioner G. W. Knox.

The court then allowed Bosqui to explain that he had been arrested in Humboldt county in 1876 for having aided and abetted his brother, who had been convicted of murder and sentenced for life two years before, to escape, but that the had been acquitted upon examination. He denied that he had ever been arrested for perjury.

Detective J. G. Goodman of the police force then took the stand and testified to the effect that he followed the men into the City Jail when they were brought in and saw Sergt. Gus Smith get a paper, a check, out of Harris's sleeve. Subsequently he was directed to research the men, and approached Harris and told him his orders. Harris pulled a memorandum book from his pocket, tore out a leaf and commenced to chew it, but the officer grabbed him by the throat and chin and forced him to expectorate the wad. After picking it up Goodman asked him what that was, and he said it was simply a memorandum where to direct Wells-Fargo's express-to send some papers.

As Harris seemed anxious that Goodman should throw the pulp away, the officer pretended to do so, but kept it.

Upon cross-examination the defendant's counsel laid great stress upon the fact that Harris made frequent queries as to what he had been arrested for, but that the officers refused to give him any satisfaction.

W. T. Harris, a watchmaker and former partner with Platt in ruth, honesty and integrity was good.
Patrick M. Darcy, who had known Bosqui since 1887, swore that his reputation was bad as did also John A. Clark, a former resident of Humboldt county.

Walter T. Jackson, a former policeman, had known Bosqui for five or six years, but did not know his reputation.

William B. McCullough, a gas-fitter, testified to having known Bosqui for fifteen years. His reputation back in Humboldt county was bad.

Upon cross-examination, however, McCullough admitted that he was only 2 years of age now, and that as Bosqui left Humboldt county in 1876, he was only a child of 19 years at the time of his trouble. Robert Martin, another ex-policeman, who had known Bosqui for twelve years, said he would not trust him, but when pinned down to state whom he had heart say that Bosqui had a bad reputation, he could only name the witness who preceded him.

Chartes A. Bell of Calabasas, who had

W. T. Harris, a watchmaker and former partner with Platt in business at the corner of First and Main streets, was the next witness called. He was shown the anonymous letter, which read as follows:

"Mr. E. E. Crandall—Dear Sir: Go and general the state of the state in controversy they were husband and wite.

Mr. Gage remarked that under the circumstances he thought it would be more genteel not to press the matter and requested Mrs. Crandall to stand aside, which she did with apparent regret, after the court had refused to allow her to testify as to what she contemplated with reference to the employment of Emil Harris, after the offense was committed. She was, however, instructed to return this morning.

also saw Harris a few days before they got the check from Crandall and warned him, as he had Platt, and told him he would have nothing to do with the matter.

Emil Harris had subsequently told witness that if Platt had told him that they ware putting up a job on Crandall he was wrong, and that he would have nothing to do with any blackmail scheme, but if either Crandall or his wife wanted his services they could get them.

At this juncture a recess was declared until 2 p.m.

THE DEFENSE. This closed the case for the government and at 2:20 o'clock, H. T. Gage, Esq., ment and at 2:20 o'clock, H. T. Gage, Esq., inquired whether or not the court had any rule with reference to the number of character witnesses he could call, and, upon learning that he would be limited to five or six, the defendants' counsel held a brief whispered consultation.

The first witness called for the defense was W. J. Brodrick, the insurance agent. He testified to having known the defendant Harris for twenty-one years past. His reputation for truth, honesty and integrity was good. The witness was not cross-examined.

Ex-Sheriff W. R. Rowland of Puente

A. C. Brodersen, her attorney, was then called for the purpose of showing that Crandall had been to his office to inquire whether Harris and Platt had been employed to work up Mrs. Crandall's case against her. He also called to see about some diamonds.

as to whether or not he ever demanded $150 from Crandall for certain letters, but Mr. Knox excitedly asked the court for leave to make an explanation of the affair, as the papers had published what purported to be the facts in the case, and as thought his presented in account to he as the papers had published what purported to be the facts in the case, and he thought his professional reputation had been injured in consequence. He then said that he did have a conversation with Mr. Crandall about the payment of $150, when the latter came to him with a written order from Mrs. Crandall for twenty for twenty-five letters written by him to her. He refused to give them up until his fee of $150 for services rendered to her was paid. His fee was $250, but he would accept $150. He also stated that Mrs. Crandall had not paid him for the counsel he had given her, and he held an attorney's lien upon the letters, which he should enforce until his fee was settled.

The court sustained all objections to the eletters referred to, shut Mr. Knox off, and held that whether Harris ever had any letters or not, out no figure in the case, thereby destroying one of the main timbers of the defense.

C. D. Platt, one of the defendants, was then called and in his own behalf testified to the effect that he was a jeweler and had dived here thirteen years. He well remembered the conversation between Crandall and himself, testified to by him as having occurred in July, 1892. He came to his house in Santa Monica, and after speaking about his demestic troubles, said he was in possession of facts that Mr. Graff and Mr. Knox had certain letters of his in their possession. He said he had been to Mr. Harris to secure his aid, and he wanted Platt's help also. He promised to aid him on the condition that he would say nothing about it. Subsequently he saw Mr. Harris and asked him about it, and he said there was something in it; Knox and Graff had the letters. Mr. Crandall told him Mrs. Crandall, Harris and Knox and Graff were in collusion against him. He admitted having written the letter set up in the indictment. This was the information he wanted. He got it for him and sent it to him as per agreement.

and sent it to him as per agreement.
The second visit Crandall made was at the Olive-street house. His daughter came and said Mr. Crandall wanted to see him. Crandall was shown in and sat in the center of the room by the table. He told him he wanted to talk to him. That the old matter had been revived again and he wanted to settle it before the little woman returned, as he wanted to leave. He said there was a lot of evidence against him in the old matter and he wanted to wipe it out. He said that, having lots of influence with Harris be would delegate him to fix this matter up.

Platt then retold the story of the meeting in Orandall's room, and his return visit later on with Harris, omitting all reference to other matters, but otherwise corroborating the testimony of the complainant and officers.

He denied that he was the author of the "Lady Friend" letter, or that he had ever spoken of Orandal. to his former partner, W. T. Harris, and at this stage of his examination court adjourned for the day. was good. The witness was not cross-oxamined.

Ex-Sheriff W. R. Rowland of Puente testified that Emil Harris was employed by him as a deputy and that he had known him for twenty-five years. His reputation was good. No cross-examination.

Ex-Chief of Police J. Frank Burns, and a former sherin of this county, who had known Emil Harris since 1868, also testified that his reputation was good. He also swore that Bosqui's reputation was bad. When pinned down to the sources of his information, he swore that Charles White, ticket agent for the Southern Pacific, and another man, whose name he could not recall, former residents of Humboldt county, Emil Harris and Fred E. Byles of Pasadena were all whom he could remember, although a number of others had also talked with him on the subject. Upon cross-examination he denied that Bosqui had ever arrested him for gambling, but admitted that Bosqui was present when he was arrested by Gus Smith.

Fred Harkness and John T. Skinner testified that Emil Harris's reputation for truth, honesty and integrity was good.

Patrick M. Darcy, who had known Bosqui since 1887, swore that Lis reputation was had seed at the contraction.

ELYSIAN PARK.

Meeting This Evening to Consider Its Improvement.

A meeting of citizens has been called for this evening to discuss the question of improving Elysian Park and to devise means of carrying on the same. The Hon. Stephen M. White and others have been invited to speak. The grand and varied scenery of this tract, and the frostless character of most of the land comprised in to offers chances for a park that might be made unique in its way, and which scenery of most tract, and the frostless, character of most of the land comprised in it offers chances for a park that might be made unique in its way, and which may in time become one of the main attractions that Southern California has to offer visitors. The other parks which we have in the city, such as Westlake Park and the East Side Park, are good enough in their way, and are entitled to consideration from the city; but they are far too small to fill the want, which is for a spacious breathing-place that may in time be compared with Central Park in New York, Fairmount Park in Philadelphia, Lincoln Park in Chicago, Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, Regent's Park in London, and the Bois de Boulogne in Paris, with this difference, that, as above stated, the features of varied scenery and mild climate offer possibilities that are lacking in all of the parks mentioned.

To make a good start will of itself cost considerable money, including the purchase of several tracts of land belonging to private owners, which are located almost in the center of the park, and some of which, by the way, it might have been hoped that the owners, who are well-to-do, would have presented to the city in which they have grown rich, rather than ask a big price for them. It is to decide upon the best method of raising this money that will be one of the chief objects of the meeting tonight. No "cinch" should be submitted to.

The chief chatacle in the way of creating a park upon this tract has been the opposition which has cropped out in other sections of the city, more especially among the Councilmen. Whenever an attempt has been made to do something in the way of improving Elysian Park, members of the Council, alert to the interests of their respective constituents; have objected unless they could secure some appropriation either for a new park in their wards, or for the improvement of an existing park. Many citizens who take a broader view say that, while they live a long way from Elysian Park, they would be quite willing to vote substitutes offered to a guileless public for the sake of the larger profit made thereon by these unscrupulous dealers.

No one would buy artificial wines knowingly. Why buy the imitation of the Carisbad products, when your health is at stake? The Carlsbad Sprudel Waters are a specific for all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, and have been used with great benefit by bundreds of thousands of people. The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt, which is evaporated from the Sprudel Salt is an alterative and eliminative remedy, which dissolves tenacious bile, alays irritation, and removes obstructions by aiding nature, and not by sudden and excessive irritation, as most cathartics do. Use the imported Carlsbad Waters, or, if it is not convenient to use the waters, or when a more decided laxative effect is desired, use the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt.

An Emphatic Denial of the Statements of Mr. Daggs—A Numer-ously Signed Protest from Arizonans.

Sunday, September 2, The Times pub-lished the following letter: FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.,) Aug. 29.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I see in The Times of the 25th inst., that a syndicate of sheepmen in Los Angeles have determined to ove their flocks of sheep from California to free pastures east of California. If you will kindly give me the address of those parties, or if you will kindly make note of this communication in your paper, I will furnish the party with all the in formation necessary to procure range for 100,000 head of sheep. I know whereof I speak, for I engaged in the business in the Territory eighteen years since, and have never gone cut of it. Yours truly.

DAGGS'S STATEMENT DENIED.

The following, received yesterday, would indicate that Mr. Dagys spoke without authority, and that his statements are not indorsed by the stockmen of Arizona:
FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.,) Sept. 8, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times:) Referring to a letter bearing date of August 29, written by one J. F. Daggs of this place, which appeared a few days since in The Times, the undersigned merchants and stockmen of this vicinity take occasion to most emphatically deny the statements made by Mr. Daggs. It is an uncontroverted and stubborn fact that the ranges of Arizona have been overstocked for several years, and had it not been for abundant rain during July and August of this year, large numbers of sheep and cattle would have starved on the ranges had they not been removed from the Territory. There is no range or water in Northern Arizona that is unclaimed, and there is no room here for stock from California or anywhere else. We write this letter for the purpose of setting the facts before any California parties who may have been misled by the letter of Mr. Daggs. The stockmen of Arizona are making a desperate effort to keep their own focks fed and watered, and are in no humor to put up with any pirating from outside parties; they don't propose to give up any of their rights, and in all justice they should not be asked to. Under existing conditions any party bringing sheep to Arizona can expect only expense, trouble and loss.

We ask that you publish this letter in the columns of The Times that the California stockmen may be properly informed in this matter, and thus be saved the trouble that would surely arise if they acted on the letter of Mr. Daggs.

The Girl Was Under Age.

Three men called at the County Clerk's office yesterday to secure a marriage license. One of the party was the prospective bridegroom, the other was the father of the prospective bride, and the third was an officer. Deputy Kutz started to make out the license, when he was told that the forde-to-be was only 14 years of age. As the age of consent is 15 years, Mr. Kutz told the party that he could not issue the license, as it would not be legal. At this the father stated that he gave his consent, but as this was not sufficient, At this the father stated that he gave his consent, but as this was not sufficient, he came out and demanded a license, saying it was a case of necessity. It dinally developed that the girl had been indiscreet, but as no provision is made for exceptional cases, the deputy refused to fissue the license, and the trio went out to see what could be done toward having the marriage by contract.

Mr. Reed promises that the beautiful place will be, when his plans are carried out, more magnificent than ever, and he is certainly expending much money toward that end. It is unnecessary to state that The Times does not assume any responsibility for the uterances of volunteer correspondents, and has no fault to find with the course of the owner of Carmelita or any other private preserve.

New Educational Idea.

New Educational Idea.

During the past few years the education of young children has received a great deal of attention, and numberless schools and kindergartens, as the most popular form is called, have been organized all over the world. Los Angeles has not been behind in this respect, and every once in a while some new school for the little ones starts up in the city. The latest departure in this line is the Private Home School, a Boston idea transplanted to Los Angeles. Pupils between the ages of 6 and 12 years are taken, and not more than twenty at a time are admitted, as it is believed that personal influence over each child is very essential. The children are taught all the elementary studies, which are varied by music, drawing and clay modeling.

Hill Street Sewer District. QUESTIONS RAISED BY THE PROPERTY OWNERS' FROTESTS.

The petition from property-owners in the Hill-street sewer district, asking that they be not compelled to pay the addit cost of making the main sewer in that dis-trict larger than is needed there in or-der that it may carry the drainage from above raises the question as to who shall pay the difference.

If this difference be paid out of funds If this difference be paid out of runas belonging to the city it will of course establish a precedent in the cases of several other districts similarly situated. There is a balance remaining in the internal sewer fund which is perhaps sufficient to pay the difference for one of these districts or a little more, but if this balance be used for that purpose some other sort of provision would have to be made for paying the difference in the other districts.

pay the difference for one of these districts or a little more, but if this balance be used for that purpose some other sort of provision would have to be made for paying the difference in the other districts.

Councilman Munson is advocating the consideration of the voting of bonds for that purpose. His suggestion is that an estimate be made of the aggregate amount required to adjust these differences, where there be any, in all the sewer districts of the city.

This proposition is objected to on the ground that the people will not vote bonds for that purpose. This objection is met with the argument that if the people of the city will not vote the bonds for that purpose. This objection is met with the argument that if the people of the city will not vote the bonds the representatives of, the people in the persons of the members of the City Council can hardly be expected to appropriate money for that purpose.

It is stated that according to a recent decision of the Supreme Court a number of separate bond propositions, with the one exception of refunding bonds, may be submitted to the people on the same day and voted on at the same time. Besides the proposition in reference to the sewer districts the bond questions which it is proposed to submit to the people are for additional schools, for park extension, for headworks for a gravity system of waterworks, and for the Third-street tunnel.

It has been talked of to have the bond election called for the day following the general election in November. It is also thought to be a good scheme to have the question of refunding the city bonds voted on the second day after the general election. By so doing the polling-places could probably be procured at a somewhat lower rate of rent, and voters would know better just where to go to vote.

City Hall Notes. The Park Commission will meet thi norning.

Two or three of the Councilmen wer Two or three of the Councilmen were asked yesterday as to whether they intend to make any reply to the announcement of the Mayor at the last meeting of the Police Commission that they are "playing to the galleries." They would say but little about it, although some of them remarked they thought they would not publicly resent the imputation.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

The Courts. ONLY A FEW CIVIL MATTERS AT-

TENDED TO. Yesterday was another light day at the Courthouse, only a few routine civil matters and one or two cases being attended

In Judge Van Dyke's department, John Carroll, an old man from the Soldiers Home, was examined as to his sanity. There was no question as to the man's mental condition, and he was committed to the asylum at Highlands. Carroll imagined that he was paralyzed from the knee down, and insisted that he could not walk. He was accordingly cayried by several deputy sheriffs.

Oscar Lange renounced his allegiance to the Kalser, and was admitted to citizenship by Judge Van Dkye.

Before Judge Shaw a couple of foreclosure suits were disposed of, Blum vs. Ward and Keefer vs. Carrisle et al.

John Howard, a native of Canada, and Lawrence Wren, a native of Ireland, renounced allegiance to Queen Victoria, and were admitted to American citizenship. There was no question as to the man's nounced allegiance to Queen Victoria, and were admitted to American citizenship by Judge Shaw.

In the case of the Central Christian Church ys. L. M. Anderson, Judge York yesterday rendered judgment to the effect that the plaintiff gets nothings, and the defendant recovers his costs.

The resolutions adopted by the bar on the death of C. C. Stephens were presented in Judge York's department yesterday, and spread on the minutes of the court.

The 'trial of the case of Magee vs. McArthur was commenced before Judge Clark yesterday. It is a cult on a promissory note and to foreclose a mortgage.

The Supervisors.

The Supervisors yesterday made a special tax levy for the Newhall district, of $1000, and further considered the bids for cial tax levy for the Newhall district, of furnishing metallic shelving.

The Supervisors also spent considerable time in executive session, further considerable time in executive session, further considering the tax levy for the ensuing year. They, of course, cannot yet state definitely what the rate will be, but, unless some means can be devised for meeting the payments on the bonded indebtedness so as to fulfill the requirements of the law, it will require a heavy increase over last year. It is believed, however, that the agreement of last year, by which the board agreed to stretch the back indebtedness over eight years, that is to levy one-eighth of the back amount each year until the full amount is paid, will be put into effect this year. It was the intention to do this last year, but owing to the fact that the amount levied fell short some $97,000, no progress was made. Dist.-Atty. Dillon will undoubtedly insist on a substantial start being made, so that at least a moderate increase may be looked for.

POLITICAL POINTS.

The Republican County Committee to Meet This Morning.

The Republican County Central C The Republican County Central Committee will meet in Operahouse Hall thismorning at 10 o'clock. As the principal business is the selection of a chairman and secretary, it is desired that every member should be present. The contest for the chairmanship has been a spirited one. During the past few days, quite a number of names heve been mentioned, but it is now claimed that the fight has narrowed down to Fred W. Wood of the Second Ward, and W. T. Williams of the Fifth. Mr. Wood's friends claim for their candidate that he is one of the best organizers in the party, a man who has done good work in the past and who will do good work in the future. They further claim that he will receive the support of a large number of the country members, and that his election is assured. The friends of Mr. Williams are, however, making a vigorous fight, and will be in the contest to the last. A. B. Conrad, the present secretary, is a candidate for reelection, and his friends claim that he will succeed himself. Charley Tidball is also making a fight for the place.

A reader of The Times, a former Pennsylvanian, writes strongly commending the momination of Mrs. Galpin by the Democrats for School Superintendent, and asserting that the Republicans have been "rebuked."

Wouldn't Pay Her Rent.

Mrs. Sallie Vignolo, who had been rooming for some time at the Phoenix lodginging for some time at the Phoenix lodginghouse on North Spring street, was so discourteous to her hostess as to overlook the matter of room rent. This was borne by the landlady without public complaint until Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Vignolo committed another breach of propriety by leaving the house and carrying her belongings with her without informing Mrs. Kelly, who keeps the house.

Mrs. Kelly swore out a complaint charging Mrs. Vignolo with the offense committed, and the latter was arrested on a warrant and taken before Justice Austin yeserday afternoon. She entered a plea of not guilty and her examination was set for a later date.

Exceeded His Authority.

Complaint was made to the police yes-terday that a special policeman named Miles Long had exceeded his authority. It-is stated that the special officer entered the house of Charles Cullota, who is confined in jail on a charge of petty larceny, while Cullota's wife was away from home and without warrant overhauled private letters and other articles.
